THE DIRECTORS ANNUAL SUMMARY

This year saw Schoolreach expansion in British Columbia and in Alberta, and for the first time in several years, a team from Prince Edward Island.

The continuing support of the sponsors, at the national level, is greatly appreciated. Our Cross-Canada "Reach" thanks to:

Doubleday, Hushion House, Key Porter Books, McClelland & Stewart, The Churchill Society, The Royal Ontario Museum, and Second City.

Our thanks to the teacher-coaches in every province who field teams, arrange play dates, ask questions, judge answers and generally make the Schoolreach tournament system work

NOVA SCOTIA REPORT

By Hans Budgey,
Nova Scotia Provincial Co-ordinator

Nova Scotia Schoolreach enjoyed an extremely successful season with some of the most evenly contested competitions on record. Sixteen teams, in 4 divisions, played exhibition tournaments throughout the school year with various teams taking turns at the "top". The province welcomed two new teams on the South Shore (Western Division), one in Metro and, for the first time, Three Oaks Senior High School of Summerside, PEI (Northern Division). It is hoped that the success of the PEI entry may signal a resurgence of "Reach" on the Island.

Finally, thank you, as always, to all the volunteers, coaches and coordinators who make Nova Scotia Schoolreach a worthwhile and enjoyable experience for all participants. We look forward to more exciting competition next season.

NEW BRUNSWICK REPORT

By Bill Hay
New Brunswick Co-ordinator

Fredericton High School was a repeat champion at the New Brunswick Reach For The Top final competition held at Oromocto High School on Saturday, May 1. F.H.S. defeated upstart Hampton High 435 to 420 in a close, exciting final.

In semifinal action, Fredericton bested James M. Hill 485 to 150 and Hampton got by Southern Victoria 345 -260. Other teams in the competition were Minto, Nackawic, Sir James Dunn, St. Stephen, Bathurst, Miramichi Valley, and Oromocto. Fredericton High also won the non-championship side of the tournament with the # 2 team.

Most of Fredericton High's 1998 championship team were grade 11 students, so they had a second run at the Nationals. Team members for 1999 are Krista Byers-Heinlein, Alex Frank, Ben Goodyear, Rob Langmaid, Janssen Kirby, and Martin Tingley. Cynthia Urquhart was serving her final year as F.H.S. coach/advisor as she will be moving to the new Fredericton North Leo Hayes High as vice-principal in the fall.

Also, the main quizmaster for the New Brunswick final tournament over the past number of years, Robert Kenyon, will be retiring from Oromocto High School this June. And Leo Boudreau, coach/advisor at Southern Victoria is also retiring. Thanks and good luck to both.

The New Brunswick teams were involved in five regional Reach tournaments over the past school year. These were at Fredericton High, Sir James Dunn, James M. Hill, Southern Victoria, and Oromocto High. The Fredericton, James M. Hill and Southern Victoria teams were the most successful at these competitions. Also, for the first time, two Nova Scotia teams joined us in the first tournament.

ONTARIO REPORT

Paul Russell
 Director, Reach for the Top

Jarvis Collegiate in Toronto was host school for the Ontario Provincial Championship in which 39 teams played off in a nine-game Round-Robin tournament on the weekend of May 15-16. The two-day tournament marathon was punctuated by a Gala dinner on Saturday night in Burwash Hall at the University of Toronto, where 260 students and their teachers celebrated their Schoolreach accomplishments. Our guest speaker Dagmar Soennecken, sponsored by the Churchill Society, talked about the expanding opportunities for self-fulfillment offered by higher education.

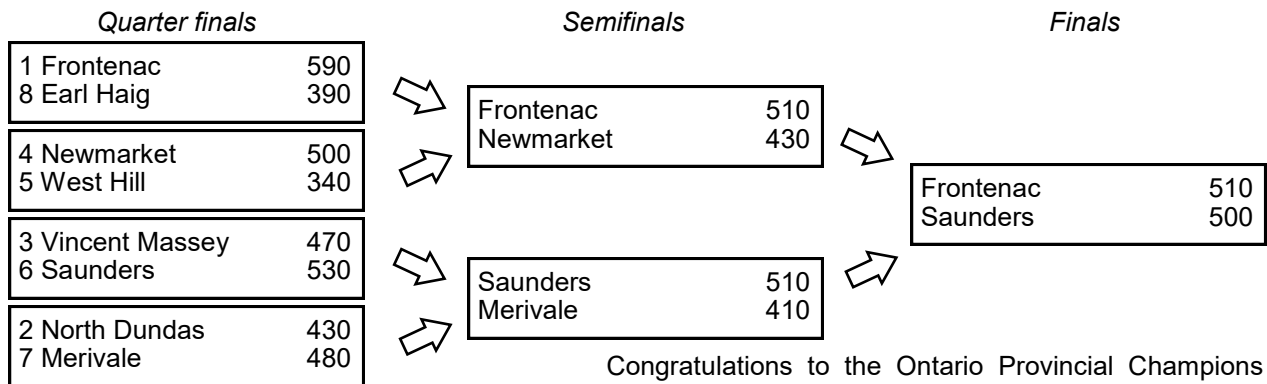

On Sunday afternoon, the 7-game final series for the top eight teams began, with a Champion – Frontenac Secondary School, declared on Monday at noon.

The Reach Organization would like to thank Rita Ancans, the coach of the Jarvis Collegiate Schoolreach Team, for her enthusiastic endorsement of the Schoolreach programme and the Jarvis team member who were supportive and helpful hosts. We would also like to thank the volunteers who judged, read questions and generally contributed to the success of the tournament.

FOR RESULTS FROM THE ONTARIO ROUND ROBIN TOURNAMENT, SEE PAGE 8

At the top of this list are the teacher/coaches who attended with their teams: also, Richard Koo & William Rupp, who served as question readers, Ravi Lall, who arbitrated as chief judge, Richard Mageau, who read the final game and scored the tournament, Eric Novakovics, who set up our tournament system, Daniel Hill, who co-ordinated the games, and Elaine Ryan, who oversaw registration and the Gala dinner with the assistance of Christine Attard.

Provincial Finals from Victoria University at the University of Toronto

Congratulations to the Ontario Provincial Champions – Frontenac Secondary School – Players Andrew Haydon, Joel Loughhead, Matthew Mason, Chris Mayell, Geoff Topping and Andrea Vollenwyder, Coached by Saima Paidra.

MANITOBA REPORT

By Murray Karlicki
Manitoba Co-ordinator

Manitoba's teams had a very successful year. Some schools were moved into new regions which generated some interesting competitions. We also had some new additions to the league from Steinbach and Teulon. This year's senior provincials were hosted by Joseph Wolinsky Collegiate in Winnipeg. Tom Blair did an excellent job of preparing for the big event. The following schools competed: Carman, Dauphin, Garden Valley, Joseph Wolinsky, Kelvin, Miles Mac, Pinawa, and St. Paul's.

Round Robin Results

Grant Park	370

Thanks to everyone who made this year a success. Special thanks to Bob Taylor who ran the intermediate league.

ALBERTA REPORT

By Chris Zarski
Alberta Provincial Co-ordinator

In Alberta this year we had 44 schools participating which provided for 3 new leagues to be formed and 3 existing leagues to be reorganized. We have a number of interested new schools who have indicated they wish to play next year and by their locations, we'll see additional leagues being formed. All of the league coordinators are to be commended for their willingness to continue with organizing their areas as well as always staying in touch with me as to the happenings around their areas.

This year's provincial competition was the biggest and best ever. The dynamic teacher duo of Lynn Hemming and Mark Siarkowski out-did themselves in hosting the event in Drumheller. Teams were greeted by students in formal dress and the staff and community went out of their way to organize an event that ran incredibly smoothly! At this year's competition we had 15 Intermediate teams and 11 Senior teams representing all corners of the province. We are fortunate that most areas in Alberta have a representative team and it is great to see Edmonton jump back in with a league! This provincial competition was the most exciting one we have had in a great many years. The competition was close right down to the final games. Some of the consolation, third place games, were determined by as few as 10 points! At the end of the day, we were proud to declare and congratulate the following teams:

1st Place
2nd Place
3rd Place

Seniors

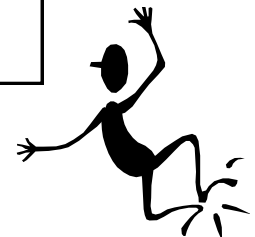

Lindsay Thurber – Red Deer
Paul Kane – St. Alberta
Archbishop MacDonald – Edmon-

Intermediate

Lindsay Thurber – Red Deer
Vanier – Edson
Bert Church – Airdrie

We congratulate all our teams for their fine showing and we're proud to have Lindsay-Thurber and Paul Kane representing us at the Nationals.

We look forward to more exciting competition next year – Have a great summer!

BRITISH COLUMBIA REPORT

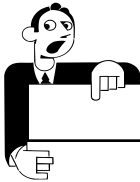

By Eric Stewart
British Columbia Co-ordinator

Intermediate/Junior Division

This year saw an increase in the number of schools playing, primarily from the Maple Ridge area and another school in Richmond. Thanks go to Julie Lane from Maple Ridge Secondary who coordinated games, which included her school and that of Meadowridge, Pitt Meadows, with the addition of Hatzic next year. Sam Jessa coordinated the Richmond zone and welcomed McMath Secondary to the five schools already playing there. The provincial tournament was hosted by Maggie Pyrzborowska of Windermere Secondary in Vancouver, which brought together sixteen teams to compete in March. The eventual winner was last year's champion, St. George's. There were gold, silver and bronze medallions presented to the top three teams as well as the Intermediate Trophy, now in its fifth year.

Senior Division

There was also an increase in participation in the senior zones, with new schools in the Maple Ridge area, another school in the Richmond zone, McMath Secondary and a rebirth of play on Vancouver Island, with the addition of Shawnigan Lake School. These entries brought the number of schools involved to twenty-one. The provincial tournament was also held at Windermere School over two days in late April. Thanks again to Maggie P. for hosting the sixteen schools and the top three teams were St. George's, University Hill and Cambie Secondary. As was the case at the Intermediate or Junior tournament, medallions were awarded to the top three schools along with the Senior Schoolreach Trophy.

Pinawa teens reach for top, take third against Goliaths

By Ross Romanish
For the Free Press

As atomic energy research is slowly phased out of Pinawa's economy, a group of talented students has stepped forward to give the town a new reputation. The community is now home to the little school that could.

Four Pinawa teens returned home yesterday to a hero's welcome after achieving the unthinkable — placing third in a national Reach For the Top competition that the school has been in in three of the past four years.

While this alone may not seem too incredible for a school in a town of nuclear scientists, consider this: Pinawa Secondary School's entire student body stands at about 170. With other academic teams coming from huge schools in cities such as Edmonton, London, Ont. and Kingston, Ont., Barrett Miller said it felt good for the team to play David against the other schools' Goliaths.

"It's really exciting," said Miller, 18, after flying back to Winnipeg from Toronto with his coach and three teammates. He said beating the first-place finisher — a school from Kingston — twice during the tournament, made the achievement even more special.

"We figure that puts us into the top one per cent of all schools in the country — that's significant."

The four teammates — three Grade 12 students and one in Grade 10 — went busier to batten against nine other teams at the University of Toronto in a three-day breakfast that started Saturday.

Reach For the Top competitions pit student academics against one another in a race to score points by quickly answering a moderator's questions pertaining to science, literature, mathematics, sports and popular culture, among other things.

Robin Atlas, 18, said her experience in music mixed in nicely with the knowledge of the others on her small-town team.

"And we don't fight as a team," she said. "If one of us makes a mistake, we just say 'that's OK,' and we stay focused."

Research and hard work got the group to its third-place finish, said 17-year-old Joey Baumgartner, adding the team practised by looking over old television scripts from Reach For the Top and by keeping in mind the weaknesses of other teams they had seen before.

But for Robbie's brother Jesse Atlas, the 15-year-old junior of the squad, success in the game comes more from general knowledge than textbooks.

"I read the newspapers a lot and watch whatever is happening around the world," he said.

While the Pinawa students are playing down any connection between their own abilities and their families' academic backgrounds — all four have parents who work at the town's Atomic Energy of Canada Ltd. research facility — team coach Brian McKenzie said it may not be a coincidence.

"There's always sort of been an academic ethos in the town anyway, so this is just an extension," said McKenzie, a history teacher who has coached the school's Reach For the Top teams for 23 years.

He may be right. Principal Gerry Dougan noted that the school's intermediate team of younger teens recently took the Manitoba title.

The team was to be met with a rally to welcome the winners back to Pinawa, where economic development officer Brian McCarthy said almost everyone is proud of the team's "awesome achievement."

"It's just another thing to highlight the fact that we still exist and we're doing A-OK," he said.

TRANS-CANADA NATIONAL FINALS

By Paul Russell
National Finals Co-ordinator

1999 National Finals of Reach For The Top
University of Toronto,
May 28th - June 1nd, 1999

The Trans-Canada Finals of Reach For The Top/Schoolreach were held this year on the May 28-31 weekend in Toronto.

Teams gathered at Margaret Addison Hall, Victoria College, in the University of Toronto on Friday and played a round-robin tournament of nine games on Saturday at historic Jarvis Collegiate, thanks to the effort of Jarvis Schoolreach Team Coach Rita Ancans, who called the games in the school, and the appreciated support of principal Pauline MacKenzie.

Sunday Morning the teams dodged film shoots on campus, then toured the city's theatre-block, visiting the Elgin/Wintergarden Theatre complex. In the afternoon the quarterfinals took place at Victoria University's gothic-arched Emmanuel College. In the evening – everyone went downtown for dinner at Pappa Leoni's on Blue Jays Way, and a performance at Second City, where the cast added a skit on Reach For The Top to the enthusiastic approval of a sold-out house.

On Monday morning, the semifinals and final game saw Frontenac Secondary School take away the Gold medals, and the Reach Trophy, which will stay at their school until next year's tournament. All participants received book prizes and the BBQ on the university grounds gave ample time for pictures. In the afternoon, all went to the Royal Ontario Museum with free passes provided by Canada's foremost museum. The weather was warm, almost tropical all weekend. On Tuesday – everyone said farewell in the rain while the Frontenac team braved the weather and the early hour to go to the CTV studios for a live interview on Canada AM!

Special thanks to our question readers during the series: Richard Koo, Richard Mageau and William Rupp, and to the team coaches from across the country, whose support makes the whole venture possible.

Lindsay Thurber SchoolReach teams mine more gold

By JIM LOZERON
Advocate staff

Lindsay Thurber Comprehensive High School has lived up to its reputation as a hotbed of scholastic talent.

Both the senior and intermediate teams captured gold medals at the provincial SchoolReach finals in Drumheller on the weekend.

The senior squad, which has played together for four years, has now won two golds and a silver in the past three provincials.

And the school has landed a whopping eight medals since 1995, said Barry Litun, SchoolReach coach and high school vice-principal.

Litun said he's extremely proud of his young charges.

The success of our teams is due to the enthusiasm of the students and the willingness of members of the senior teams to encourage and support the new intermediate team members each year.

The senior group of Dylan Caddy, Adam Fizer, Dave Gibben, Justin Litun and Alex McCloy won the gold medal with a come-from-behind victory over Paul Kane High School from St. Albert in the championship game.

One hundred points behind with just a third of the questions left, the group answered 20 of the final 38 queries, finishing with 400 to 370 for Paul Kane.

Lindsay Thurber and Paul Kane advance to the national SchoolReach championships to be held in Toronto May 28 to June 1.

At the intermediate level (Grades 9 and 10), the squad from Thurber won all seven games it played. The team ended the season with a perfect 21-0 record, including 14 victories in league competition.

The school's senior team will be in good hands next season despite the graduation of this year's team," noted Litun.

On the gold-medal winning intermediate squad are: Tarysa Fizer, Chris Jones, Adam Litun, Andrew Melnychuk and Jen West.

For the first time, a senior group from Hunting Hills High School took part in the provincial finals. The team won two games and lost three, narrowly missing the playoffs.

Representing Hunting Hills were Kris Gilson, Carnell Reed, Tarysa Stalter and Scott Brandon.

Modelled after the old Reach for the Top TV show, SchoolReach has players hitting buzzers in response to rapid-fire questions on such topics as geography, math, sports and entertainment.

Local media representatives participated in the first-ever Lindsay Thurber School Reach Celebrity Challenge, pitting their wits against two formidable high school teams. There were two, 15 minute games — one against the intermediate team (Grade 9 and 10), and then against the senior team (Grade 12). The intermediate team outscored the Celebs 150 to 100, and the senior team also posted a winning score of 180 to 100. Bucky, the school's competitive mascot in the background, was on hand to cheer on the school's teams.

We should stress again that it is Schoolreach policy to be flexible as to rules of play across the country. The minimal number of rules we will review have to do with play at the National Tournament, with which you should be aware as the season starts.
